FCC 1: BUSINESS AND INDUSTRY

Title: Training

Date: Week of January 5, 2006

Info: Onalaska's Fire Department rescued dozens of people and put out a large scale fire this afternoon, and they did it all without leaving the fire station. It's the new 'virtual' training system. It brings together computers and video, to set up a digital disaster. Crews are then able to role-play critical life-saving situations, like how they'd rescue people from a nursing home fire or saving lives in a high school. The Fire Department will continue to develop their virtual response system over the next few weeks. La Crosse's Fire Department has just purchased a similar system.

Title: Tornado

Date: Week of January 6, 2006

Info: The Federal Emergency Management Agency rejected the request for help, but now the United States Small Business Administration has stepped in. Governor Jim Doyle announced today that the SBA has approved a request for low interest loans for individuals and businesses affected by the devastating tornadoes last August. Those 27 separate tornadoes damaged more than 400 homes through Dane, Richland and Vernon counties. The community of Viola was among the hardest hit. Loans of up to 200 thousand dollars are available, while homeowners and renters can apply for up to 40 thousand in loans to replace personal property. A disaster loan office will open at noon on Monday in Viola in the Community Building on Commercial Street.

Title: Wind Turbines

Date: Week of February 23, 2006

Info: Another sign that alternative energy sources are becoming more popular. A leading manufacturer of wind turbines says it is completely booked for the next two years. General Electric makes the turbines that act like windmills, using wind power to generate energy. That energy is collected and then sold to energy companies and eventually to customers. The shortage of turbines means developers of small community based wind energy projects may have to wait longer. There is a proposal from a Chicago company to build a wind farm in Monroe County. They want to build up to 50 windmills, some up to 400 feet tall on private property. The county zoning committee has approved the idea.

FCC 2: Government and Politics

Title: Council

Date: Week of January 10, 2006

Info: A controversial debate continues tonight at La Crosse's City Hall. A committee is expected to vote on a resolution for early withdrawal of troops in Iraq. While the White House won't base policy on what La Crosse or any other city recommends, those opposed to the war say it will send a message. If the council votes in favor of the resolution, the city will go on record supporting a quick withdrawal. If the city votes against the resolution, it will go to the polls giving the voters the final say. The anti-war activists obviously want the city to support early withdrawal of the troops, but they say it should ultimately be up to the people of La Crosse. The only way that will happen is if it goes to the voters.

Title: Le Grand

Date: Week of March 1, 2006

Info: It's official...La Crosse's newest Judge was sworn in today. Judge Roger Le Grand takes his place behind the bench. He takes over for retiring Judge Dennis Montabon. Judge Le Grand says he hopes to continue Montabon's legacy. "I really hope that I will treat each person with dignity and respect. That is the most important thing and treat every case fairly. I hope I have a little bit of a sense of humor following in the footsteps of my good friend Judge Montabon. He had a very dry sense of humor."

Title: Conceal

Date: Week of January 17, 2006

Info: Governor Jim Doyle said he would do it and today he did. He vetoed the bill to allow people to carry concealed weapons in Wisconsin, setting up a showdown with the Legislature. Both the Assembly and the Senate passed the bill by wide margins, but overriding the Governor's veto and making the bill a law without his signature, requires a two-thirds vote. Whether this bill has enough votes is uncertain. Two years ago, the legislature approved a similar bill and Governor Doyle vetoed it. Lawmakers failed to override that veto by a single vote. Wisconsin is one of four states that do not allow the carrying of concealed weapons. The Governor said the Legislature should spend more time trying to bring more jobs into our communities rather than more guns.

FCC 3: Environment

Title: Habitat For Humanity

Date: Week of January 27, 2006

Info: It's called a 'restore'... a re-sale hardware store. There are dozens around the country including one of the most successful ones in Winona. Habitat For Humanity collects all the profits and turns them into rebuilt homes for the less fortunate. Better business at a restore is good for the environment as well. Their mission is to keep things out of the landfill. Local businesses and contractors donate everything for sale. Many of the materials have never been used. Winona's location may soon have some friendly competition from a shop in La Crosse. The Habitat For Humanity chapter is planning to open it's own restore on the city's Southside. It hopes to have the finances set up to open that location sometime before the end of the year.

Title: Hunting Rules

Date: Week of January 5, 2006

Info: When you start talking about changing the rules for hunting, fishing, and boating on the Mississippi River, people are going to get upset. The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service first proposed some changes last summer. These changes are designed to protect the river for generations to come. Some say those restrictions went too far, so the Fish and Wildlife Service made some changes. They are taking them before the public once again. The controversy hasn't gone away. Officials hope to have a final plan by the beginning of March.

Title: Forest

Date: Week of January 6, 2006

Info: The state of Minnesota can boast a lot of things and now great forests can be added to the list. Governor Tim Pawlenty says two independent forest certification groups recognized the state for having the largest certified sustainable forests in the country. The distinction is earned based on conservation practices. Pawlenty also says it's an economic plus for the state because many companies only purchase wood products from sustainable forest land.

FCC 4: Education

Title: Students

Date: Week of January 10, 2006

Info: Students at Aquinas High School are putting some extra care into the community. Sometimes all it takes is a friendly face to brighten someone's day. Eight students volunteered to spend some time with seniors at Bethany-St. Joseph Care Center in La Crosse. It is part of the school's community service organization called 'IMPACT.' Judging by all the smiles and laughs, it seems the students definitely are leaving an impact on the community. There are about 75 total Aquinas students involved in the volunteer group. They take turns visiting the community and also deliver daily meals in La Crosse County.

Title: Chileda

Date: Week of March 3, 2006

Info: Thanks to all the good weather we've had this winter, a number of construction projects are ahead of schedule. Chileda's new home included. The warm winter has moved the completion date up about three weeks. To celebrate and to show the public how far the project has come, the organization opened the doors today, to its new site. Reporter Martha De Crans got a special tour from someone who we hear is very excited to move in. Fifteen-year-old Brittany Smith, is definitely excited and a little anxious to move in. Forty-one other students, between the ages of six and 21, that have developmental disabilities like Brittany will call the new campus home. For 33 years now, Chileda has helped children and young adults with disabilities in the La Crosse area.

Title: Stadium

Date: Week of March 2, 2006

Info: It's been a major landmark in La Crosse since 1937 and it's gone through some major changes since then. The UW-L stadium complex is about to get another facelift. Last week, students voted in favor of supporting the 15-million dollar new stadium project. In fact, they voted to pay 2-point-5 million dollars of it. Starting next September, students will start paying just 2-dollars a semester. That fee will increase a little bit every year, but will never be more than 10-dollars a semester. What you will see is a whole new seating complex with luxury boxes, a new fitness center, and artificial turf on the field. Students also say, the new stadium will allow the university to continue to host events like the state high school track meet.

FCC 5: Public Health

Title: United Way

Date: Week of February 1, 2006

Info: One million, 704-thousand, 681 dollars, is how much you donated to the 2005 Great Rivers United Way Campaign. The total is the largest for the Chapter, but fell just shy of this year's goal. Campaign Chair, Ron Wessels says, he is pleased with the result considering all of the other donation drives that took place this year. The Great Rivers United Way supports local programs at 28-non-profit organizations.

Title: Training

Date: Week of January 4, 2006

Info: Five million Americans have Alzheimer's disease. Sometimes these patients get confused and wander away from their homes. The La Crosse County Sheriff's Department has a system in place to find these people quickly. Local officers are sharing their training with officers in Taylor and Trempealeau counties. To use it, a transmitter is placed on a person's ankle. The watch-like device can help authorities use a receiver to track the person. The search is based on radio frequencies. You listen for a tone. You have a directional hand-held antenna and you just follow where the strongest tone is. In fact, the national average search time for a person with the device is 22-minutes. A person without it could be lost for weeks, even months. La Crosse County has had 'Project Lifesaver' since 2001.

Title: Franskemp

Date: Week of January 11, 2006

Info: A local medical center will offer new options at its new Onalaska clinic. Franciscan Skemp announced today it will add a center for Health and Healing. Doctors and surgeons will have the opportunity to combine traditional medicine, with more holistic therapies like 'guided meditation and yoga.' Doctors know some of their patients might be skeptical at first about these less traditional methods. Crews are now constructing the new Health and Healing Center in the Onalaska Clinic on Theatre Road. The site should be open and ready for use by fall of this year.

FCC 6: Recreation

Title: Conductor

Date: Week of January 5, 2006

Info: What would it be like to stand in front of an audience and conduct a symphony orchestra? Well, five people are trying to find out. They are all entered in the La Crosse Symphony Orchestra's conductor wannabe contest. The contest is a major fundraiser for the orchestra. The contestants raise money and the one who raises the most, gets to conduct the orchestra during a live performance. Besides raising funds, it introduces people to the symphony. The runner up will also get to conduct the orchestra, but on a separate night. The contestants are Neil Duresky, Max Kottmer, Nancy Noelke, Deak Swanson, and Al Trapp.

Title: Sailorupdate

Date: Week of January 19, 2006

Info: An update on a story we told you about last month. Weather permitting, Ardell Lien of Caledonia will set sail today. He is continuing on his journey around the world. The most amazing part of the story is that Ardell is 70-years old. We caught up with him last month and at that time, he was halfway through his 27-thousand mile journey. Ardell was back home for a medical check-up. He's alive today because of an organ donation. As a way to raise awareness, Ardell decided to sail solo around the globe. His wife Maureen tells us, if the weather cooperates, he plans to continue the second part of his trip today. Ardell hopes to complete his adventure in June.

Title: River

Date: Week of March 8, 2006

Info: It's a research project two years in the making that could carry big implications for the fish and wildlife on the upper Mississippi. Professional scientists or ecologists didn't do the work, but instead the US Fish and Wildlife Service, the DNR and the US Geological Service turned to 4 teenagers. Eighth graders from Longfellow Middle School may help ongoing efforts to restore the river. Professionals weren't quite sure what they'd get when they invested time and resources into a Joint-Capstone project with teenagers. Ecologists will review the student's findings tonight, everything from interviews with scientists, two-years of data-collections in the river, and observations on the refuge. The girls researched the effects certain bacteria's have on the local frog population. The post college-level research was on those frog deformities, growth patterns of blue-gills, and the aging process of fish. The statistics gathered will be used to track environmental trends on the river. The National Wildlife Refuge Association has awarded a 5-thousand dollar grant to the school on the river project at Longfellow.

FCC 7: Children's Issues

Title: Teacher

Date: Week of January 23, 2006

Info: It's a heroes welcome for a soldier and teacher back from Iraq. West Salem Schools, welcomed 8th grade teacher Rick Dobbs with a big pep rally yesterday afternoon. Dobbs spent a year in Iraq with the 1158th, where he was a convoy commander. Now that he's home, he wants everyone to keep thinking about the soldiers who are not. "Thanks for all the support you have given me and keep praying for the troops that are over there. I think that's probably the biggest help." The pep rally also recognized other returning soldiers.

Title: YMCA

Date: Week of February 28, 2006

Info: The YMCA has kicked off its 'Strong Kids Campaign.' The program helps with the cost of programs. The money also helps reduce the cost of memberships. The fundraising goal is 150-thousand dollars. The campaign supports all of the youth program across the board. All of the youth programs are subsidized, which means the fees that parent's pay or the kids pay to be in the programs, are less than the actual cost of the program. The Apple Annies singing group helped kick-off the program. The women have collectively lost more than 325-pounds.

Title: Students

Date: Week of March 3, 2006

Info: Adam Koessler is a sophomore at Viterbo. Without a second thought, he decided to spend his spring break helping others in New Orleans, but Adam isn't the only one. The trip was originally planned for twelve students. It became so popular that now 35 are going. Rachel Collins has gone on several other missions trips and jumped at the chance for this one. Campus Minister Chris McClead got the ball rolling for the trip. He says they will serve 22-hundred meals a day to people in the community. If needed, the group will help with nearby construction. The biggest reason they are going though, is to reach out to others in need. The students will climb aboard busses tomorrow morning. Once there, they will camp out in tents for the week. Viterbo's student government is picking up the entire cost of the trip.

AFTER DEATH

Where do our loved ones go after they die? Perhaps it is a philosophical question for most. "Primetime" investigates the free-wheeling market for human body parts across the country. Chris Cuomo reports on the concerning side of a multi-million dollar industry.

FOREVER CHANGED

A Georgia teenager is sentenced to a decade in prison for oral sex. Despite the fact that the girl willingly participated, under Georgia law, she could not legally consent. Supporters of the teenager say the law was never meant to cover sexual acts between teens. "Primetime" reports on the outrage that has both sides of the law up in arms -- with a young man's life caught in the middle.

Thursday, March 16, 2006

MISSION IMPOSSIBLE

According to the Nobel Prize-winning theory of human behavior called "game theory," ordinary people who face extraordinary challenges rely on common perceptions. Jay Schadler reports on the fascinating behavior.

Thursday, March 23, 2006

WHAT WOULD YOU DO?

"Primetime" takes a hidden camera series and tests what people do when confronted with ethical dilemmas that force them to act or not. Whether walking right by or getting involved in these scenarios, the reactions people have are fascinating. "Primetime's" John Quiñones looks at whether perception influences people's reactions.

Thursday, March 30, 2006

FALSE CONFESSIONS

What makes innocent people confess to brutal murders they didn't commit? One study shows that in 23% of DNA exonerations for murder, people confessed to the crimes. "Primetime" takes a hidden camera experiment with volunteers who have done nothing wrong. Will they too make false confessions?

HONOR THY MOTHER

Stephanie Arena had been at the center of a ruthless custody battle and at what some call a plot to imprison two boys for a crime that she now says never happened. She claims to have obeyed her mother, pretended to have been sexually molested so that her mother would stay out of jail for violating a court custody order. Stephanie tells ABC News Correspondent Jim Avila that it is nearly impossible to resume a normal life with family and friends because she is haunted by her cousins sitting in prison.

STAR JONES

"The View" co-host Star Jones says in her new book "Shine" that she has found love, connected with God and lost weight. Yet the self-proclaimed daytime diva has been the center of controversy and questions. In an interview with Lynn Sherr, she answers many questions and talks about what's to come.

STUPID IN AMERICA: HOW WE ARE CHEATING OUR KIDS

Are kids in the United States being cheated out of a quality education? American students fizzle in international comparisons. John Stossel questions government officials, union leaders, parents and students. He examines how the educational system can be improved upon and reports on innovative programs across the country.

Friday, January 20, 2006

ARE YOU EVERYTHING YOU SAY YOU ARE?
UNDERCOVER

What's it like to be one of the guys? In search of an answer, female author Norah Vincent did a complete transformation from head to toe to go "undercover" as Ned Vincent, successfully infiltrating the inner sanctum of a man's world. ABC News correspondent JuJu Chang reports on this transformation.

NATURAL REMEDIES

Kevin Trudeau has been on the bestseller list for six months and says he has sold five million books on natural remedies that he says can prevent and cure virtually every disease. Why do so many people follow his claims... some of which have been called fraud by the government? John Stossel reports.

ART OF HOAXING

Why is it sometimes so easy to play with the truth, and what are the classic ingredients of a successful hoax? To find out, Bob Brown looks at notorious hoaxes, including recent headline-making ones.

SECRETS OF MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS

From the wild to the wonderful, "20/20" explores the passionate relationships between mothers and daughters, including three moms who push the boundaries of modern motherhood, a mother-daughter duo who are more like sisters, and another mother's lasting legacy. ABC News correspondent JuJu Chang reports.

Friday, February 3, 2006

JOHN STOSSEL: GMAB

We hate to be rude, but we have to call attention to the spreading trend -- people talking louder, swearing more, breaking all the rules of civility in public. 20/20s John Stossel devotes the hour to rudeness.

Friday, February 10, 2006

JOHN STOSSEL: GMAB

"Lies, Myths and Nasty Behavior" - True or false: the price of gas is higher than ever... suburban sprawl is terrible...outsourcing kills American jobs...John Stossel continues his popular series of debunking common beliefs such as these and also tackles some bothersome behavior.

Friday, February 17, 2006

VANISHED: THE DARK SIDE

"20/20" reopens the case of a young woman from England who got caught on the dark side of Tokyo's nightlife and became the center of a haunting international mystery. What happened to 21-year-old Lucie Blackman when she disappeared while working as a hostess in a Tokyo nightclub?

Friday, February 24, 2006

GOOD CARBS

The anti-carb craze that swept the nation might be ending thanks to new research that shows whole grains can lower the risk of heart disease and some cancers. Bottom line: "good carbs" or "whole grains" are back in style. 20/20 puts whole grain labels to the test.

SARAH JESSICA PARKER

In an exclusive interview, Sarah speaks candidly to Barbara Walters about her personal and professional life.

DANCING WITH THE STARS

ABC News correspondent Deborah Roberts gives viewers all-access to the action. She talks to the celebrity dancers, including the three finalists, former 98 Degrees popstar Drew Lachey, WWE (World Wrestling Entertainment) wrestler Stacy Keibler and Super Bowl legend Jerry Rice, as well as competitors Lisa Rinna and George Hamilton.

Friday, March 3, 2006

SECRETS

Whether we are protecting ourselves or others, hiding the truth sometimes comes with a cost. "20/20" shares extraordinary stories of people who found the courage to come clean and of people whose secrets were revealed unwillingly.

Friday, March 10, 2006

SMASHED

Many young female coeds from across the country spend their college years studying hard and partying harder. ABC News anchor Elizabeth Vargas reports about binge drinking and how young women are now drinking more than their male peers.

Friday, March 17, 2006

VANISHED: COLLEGE COEDS

"20/20" investigates the disappearances of two female college coeds who mysteriously vanished without a trace. Brooke Wilberger disappeared in broad daylight from a parking lot in the university town of Corvallis, Oregon in May of 2004. Maura Murray, a nursing student at the University of Massachusetts, drove to New Hampshire in February 2004 and has not been seen since. FBI statistics say there are more than 21,500 active missing persons cases involving people ages 18 to 29. As Elizabeth Vargas reports, how authorities respond to these cases can vary dramatically depending on the circumstances.

Friday, March 24, 2006

HEALTHY MENUS

Feeding into Americans' obsession with weight control and dieting, many restaurants are making claims that they now serve food that is better for you. "20/20" goes out to lunch at some of the popular restaurant chains that advertise special meals designed for dieters and other health-conscious consumers.

ABSTINENCE

"20/20" gathers a group of asexuals to learn why they have no attraction to men or women, and also talks to a certified sex therapist who says asexuals just need a little help.

SURVIVAL

Bob Brown reports on the ultimate story of luck involving three people: a little boy born and living in a very dangerous country, with no parents to protect him and no hope for the future, and an American couple -- a world famous doctor and his girlfriend.

Friday, March 31, 2006

UP FROM NOTHING

"20/20" reports the amazing stories of everyday people who started at the bottom and made it to the top, rising above their circumstances to become rich or famous or both.
